

A Limit State Design Criteria for Masonry

Gary C. Hart¹

Abstract:

A design approach is presented which combines limit state design concepts and the theory of structural reliability. The proposed approach is called Expected Value Design. Structural reliability theory is used to define the expected design values and to develop values for the capacity reduction factors. Serviceability and ultimate limit states are considered in the design criteria.

To purchase full article: Please use this direct link to purchase the TMS Journal Volume of this article, Volume 10, Issue 1: <https://masonrysociety.org/product/tms-ejournal-vol-10-no-1/>

Otherwise, consider becoming a TMS member for full access to all TMS Journal articles: <https://masonrysociety.org/membership/#join>

DOI: 10.70803/001c.141163

¹ Professor, Department of Civil Engineering, UCLA, and Englekirk, Hart and Sabo, Inc.